

Kent Wagerman is a Certified Sommelier from the Guild of Sommeliers and has worked in the Food and Beverage industry for 30 years. His skills as a sommelier in the Los Angeles area led him to work with Chefs that have been named James Beard award winners and some that have been featured on Iron Chef. His career moved him in Texas to work for Republic National Distributing Company and eventually to his current position as the Spire Regional Manager for the Jackson Family, where his flagship brands include Cardinale, Lokoya and Vérité to name a few.
